

Seminar for Feeding Teams: DEVELOPING A DISTRICT PROCESS

December 5 & 6, 2011 Holiday Inn, Wilsonville

REGIONAL AND STATEWIDE SERVICES FOR STUDENTS WITH ORTHOPEDIC IMPAIRMENTS

CIAO Seminars Presents: PEDIATRIC FEEDING: THE BIG PICTURE II MEDICAL AND FAMILY DYNAMICS ISSUES WITH FEEDING DISORDERS

In last year's "Pediatric Feeding – The Big Picture, Part I", we learned about the Motor, Sensory, and Behavioral causes of pediatric feeding disorders. In this intermediate level, follow-up course, using case studies and group discussion, OTs, PTs, SLPs and other professionals will delve into two more causes: Medical and Family Dynamics issues. Learn what feeding teams can and cannot do to support a child with severe gastrointestinal or cardiopulmonary problems to eat. How does Prematurity contribute to feeding problems? Understand the effects of current medications on swallowing and why feeding teams should always know what meds their students/young children are receiving. Discover some of the rarely explored effects on the family having a child with a feeding disorder. Finally, walk away with concrete strategies to help families and classroom staff to support young children and students to improve feeding for increased health, safety and educational benefit.

Course Objectives

Following successful completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Discuss various medical issues that may cause feeding disorders in children served in educational settings.
- List 3 strategies that can be used with children/students who have GERD and Cardiac/Respiratory Issues affecting feeding and health.
- List 4 family paradigms that may be observed in families of children with feeding issues.

Jennifer Meyer, M.A., CCC-SLP, is a popular national speaker in the area of Pediatric Dysphagia and has received exceptional ratings for CIAO courses. She has 18 years experience specializing in pediatric feeding disorders. She has worked in Neonatal Intensive Care Units, developed an outpatient hospital-based feeding program and served as a Feeding Consultant for Early Childhood Intervention Programs. She has recently served as Assistant Clinical Professor at Texas Woman's University and as Clinical Coordinator of the Center for Assisting Families with Feeding and Eating (CAFFE), a family-centered, sensory-based, interdisciplinary feeding clinic incorporating faculty from Speech Therapy, Occupational Therapy, Family Studies, and Nutrition. Through her private practice, she continues her mission to teach therapists and students to see themselves as facilitators in treating the child, supporting the family and bringing back the fun, joy and family connection in eating.

General Information

The Seminar is designed to support education-based feeding teams to address questions of safe feeding, develop and implement processes and procedures for evaluation, and provide feeding supports in educational settings. This year the seminar will focus on interdisciplinary team collaboration to address medical and family dynamics related to feeding disorders. Time will also be provided for discipline-specific networking with other teams, as well as for analysis of district feeding team processes and goal-setting. New teams, new team members and program administrators are welcome to attend. Questions about program content may be directed to Diana Roberts at diana.roberts@douglasesd.k12.or.us.
